

North Carolina Coastal Federation | 3609 Hwy 24 (Ocean) | Newport, NC 28570
Phone: 252-393-8185 | Fax: 252-393-7508 | Email: nccf@nccoast.org | Web: <http://www.nccoast.org>

Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

May 20, 2008

Contact: Mike Giles, Cape Fear Coastkeeper
Phone: 910-790-3275; 910-231-6687 (cell)
Email: capefearkeeper@nccoast.org

Get on the Bus to Rally for Clean Water

Wilmington, NC – The N.C. Coastal Federation is sponsoring a rally on the Legislative Mall in Raleigh June 4 to support new state rules to control polluted runoff that are under attack from powerful special interests.

The federation has chartered a bus that will leave from Wednesday June 4 at 8 a.m. from the Home Depot/Kohl's parking lot at the corner of Eastwood and Racine drives and should return by 6 p.m.. The cost is $15 for federation members and $20 for non-members. The price includes a seafood lunch in Raleigh.

"These rules may be the most important coastal environmental regulations since passage of the Coastal Area Management Act in the 1970s," noted Mike Giles, the federation's Cape Fear Coastkeeper. "For the first time we have rules that are in synch with science, which has recognized for decades the devastating effects polluted runoff can have on coastal waters. All you have to do is look at the six tidal creeks here in New Hanover County that are all essentially closed to shellfishing and sometimes swimming due to polluted runoff. Our coastal waters now need your help more than ever".

The N.C. Environmental Management Commission (EMC) passed the rules earlier this year to replace coastal stormwater rules that state regulators acknowledged in 2005 had failed to protect water quality. More than 100,000 acres of shellfishing waters, which are among the most sensitive in the state, have been polluted with bacteria found in runoff since EMC passed the existing rules in 1987. The new rules are scheduled to take effect Aug.1 unless the N.C. General Assembly intervenes. Lobbyists for home builders, Realtors, developers and other special interests have been working to get the rules killed or delayed. Rep. Pryor Gibson, a builder from Anson County, is among the 12 legislators who have introduced a bill to kill the rules.

“Some of these lobbyists are among the most powerful and well-financed in the state,” Giles said. “We can’t hope to match them dollar-for-dollar, but we can fill the mall in Raleigh with regular people who care about what happens to our coastal waters.”

The bus from Wilmington will join other chartered buses from Manteo and Morehead City. In Raleigh, participants will have an opportunity to speak to their legislators and eat lunch with them. Afterwards, the federation will release its annual State of the Coast Report, which this year focuses on stormwater, and recognize the exemplary environmental stewardship of people all over the state who have won this year’s Pelican Awards.

People who don’t want to ride the buses can still take part. They can gather at the federation tent on the mall behind the Legislative Building at 11 a.m. If you don’t plan to take the bus but would like to join the federation for lunch in Raleigh, please call 252-393-8185 to reserve a lunch ticket, which costs $5.

The federation’s website, www.nccoast.org, contains more about the rally and plenty of factual information about the stormwater rules, including a Myth Buster Chart that corrects many of the inaccuracies that opponents have used to fight the rules.

###

---

About the North Carolina Coastal Federation: “Citizens Working Together for a Healthy Coast”

The North Carolina Coastal Federation (NCCF) is the state’s only non-profit organization focused exclusively on protecting and restoring the coast of North Carolina through education, advocacy and habitat restoration and preservation. NCCF headquarters are located at 3609 Highway 24 in Ocean between Morehead City and Swansboro and are open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 5 pm.

The headquarters include NCCF’s main offices, the Cape Lookout Coastkeeper office, a gift shop, Nature Library, Weber Seashell Exhibit, ShoreKeeper Learning Center, and adjoining nature trail. The NCCF also operates field offices in Wilmington and Manteo. For more information call 252-393-8185 or check out NCCF’s website at www.nccoast.org